

The City's SOCIAL LIFE

Events, Gayeties and Personal Activities of the Week

In the Aisle.

She was maid of honor
And I was his best man,
And in the aisle we tottered while
The wedding march began.
My heart was wildly beating
My breath was full of pride,
For I was to be a bride,
Was that not my side?

The people turned and whispered
And turned again to see,
And for awhile there in the aisle
The gods were good to me!
I saw the maiden blushing,
The two outdone the best,
I heard her sigh, my head was high,
And joy was in my breast!

She was maid of honor
And I was his best man,
And there my pride ignominiously died,
And there my shame began to rise,
My feet and it got blended—
And we are strangers now!

—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Times-Herald.

The Church Bazaar.

This is the season for turkey and oyster suppers, bazaars and sales of fancy articles under the auspices and for the benefit of church societies. Therefore, the protest of a number of Western clergymen against this method of coaxing dollars from the pockets of members and others into the coffers of the church possesses at least the virtue of timeliness, says a Pittsburgh paper. No man would hold oyster suppers in order to buy a carpet or furniture for his home, say these critics. When his family exchequer runs low no worthy citizen invites his friends and neighbors to come in and have supper with him, and then assess them half a dollar apiece as they are leaving, on the time-worn plea that he needs the money. The cheerful giver who demands a turkey supper in return for his contribution is not among those mentioned in the Scriptures as entitled to future reward for his action. The bazaar, too, turns the sacred edifice into a public mart, a place for barter and sale, and diverts it from its intended purposes. For these and similar reasons an attempt is being made to influence public opinion against this form of raising money for church purposes.

A chief objection, it appears, is to turning the church building into a restaurant or a department store, even temporarily. This objection may be obviated by the hiring of a hall or other suitable place. This custom generally obtains in Pittsburgh, though exceptions have been noted. The victim of the average church bazaar, who has purchased a number of articles he did not want, at exorbitant prices, under the hypnotic eyes of fair saleswomen, is apt to feel much like the cunning farmer who has invested his savings in gold brick bargains at the instigation of a friendly stranger. But this is not all of the game, and if he protests he is pointed to the example of the early martyrs, who endured even more cruel treatment without complaining. As long as the women rule this country no man, unless he be a bachelor, will dare to raise his voice against the church supper and bazaar.

Funny Economies.

New York Tribune.

Some of the economies of well-to-do women are very funny. Take twine, for instance. In the minds of many opulent housewives it is a sign of wicked waste to cut the string of a parcel, and they will carefully and laboriously untie every knot of a package, however intricate, and then, at the cost of much time and patience, they will do it up in neat little rolls, which are carefully put away, as if they were valuable possessions. Every time that string is needed in the household they produce one of these precious rolls from their hoard, with a glow of satisfaction over their thrift. Now, a large ball of twine costs about 6 cents, and contains enough cord to do up all the packages of the house for a year, at least, yet not one housekeeper in a hundred, it is safe to say, will ever buy a ball of twine.

Another bundle, too, are felt to be invaluable, and are put by religiously, for the idea of buying a comfortable box of assorted bands ready for use would never be thought of, although the would be infinitesimal. Yet these very women will squander hundreds of dollars in useless fineries and overlook wastes in their kitchen that would, if stopped, reduce their butchers' and grocers' books considerably. Such is their inconsistency.

Do Your Christmas Shopping this week. The advantage is all yours.

WASSON'S

A New Candy Department Here, and One You'll be Glad to Visit Again.—All New.

In Toyland

Bring the children. Christmas joys should start with their pleasures and the busy store has prepared for them in a manner that they'll not soon forget. Our toy buyer has searched the four quarters of the globe to procure new and original ideas in toys and how well he has succeeded you'll only know by looking here. A fairland of holiday brightness is this new toy store. A brilliant gathering of pleasure-giving gifts for the juveniles.

The Doll Show For the Boys

Surely has never been surpassed. Perhaps New York's great establishments may devote more space to the display of dolls, but a more complete assortment than ours cannot be brought together. These dolls have not been bought better-secter, but were carefully selected a year ago, picked out with taste and discrimination, and the result is, pretty dolls and such a variety of them, dolls that cry and move their eyes, blondes and brunettes, dolls that are beautifully dressed and dolls in calico and gingham, Filippinos, Porto Ricans, Mexicans, Indians, cowboys, football players, Toppies, character dolls, and oh! such gorgeous court ladies and grand dames. Then there are all of the dollhouses, furniture, trunks, wardrobes and other doll needs. Every little girl in Indianapolis must see this doll show.

We have made unusual efforts. If our boys are not pleased at the wide variety and choice in this remarkable collection of up-to-date gifts we shall be disappointed. Here are electrical automobiles that run at break-neck speed, elevated railroads with switches, electrical novelties in great variety, all sorts of iron toys, fire departments complete with working houses, punching bags, footballs, stereophones, musical instruments, soldier sets, forts, guns, cannons, theaters, stock farms, clowns and fancy riders, mechanical animals, billiard and pool tables, almost up to life size and a lot of novelties in boys' games that will be shown only at Wasson's this season. Next year every one will have them, but the busy store is first in the field.

Juvenile Books

Books for the babies full of catchy pictures, books for all sorts of children, books for boys and girls from 5c to $1.00 each. A great collection of books by popular authors for young people 10c, 25c, 50c and 75c. There's always a saving in books at Wasson's.

Blocks and Games

Picture blocks and building blocks, ten pins, croquet and ring toss, golf in several sizes, pillow dex, bagatelle, checkers, dominoes, parchesi, battle games, shooting galleries, flip-top and every game made by the celebrated Parker Bros. If you don't see the game you want ask for it, for we must have it.

Rare China and Dainty Bric-a-Brac Bicycles, Tricycles, Wagons, Carts

A superb lot of new ideas in bric-a-brac gathered from the oddities of the season's production. All are popularly priced and are not shown by any other Indianapolis store. The China department has a great array of Dinner Sets, Toilet Sets and odd pieces of new China in the new designs and colorings.

The extra room added to the Toy Department enables us to show a great line of Wheeled Goods, from the tiniest doll cab to the majestic buckboard. The Busy Store never does anything by halves and you may be certain of finding the best line of these goods here.
